

Topic 3.1: Hollywood Movies About the Branches of Government

Hollywood movies about U.S. political history tell viewers as much about the times in which the films were made as the historical stories shown on the screen. Dr. Strangelove (1964) expresses fears of nuclear war during the Cold War. All the President's Men (1976) shows courageous reporters uncovering government scandals and secrets. Rambo (1982) extolls the power of American heroes in the post-Vietnam War era. Malcolm X (1992) reflected a growing awareness of the need for racial and social justice in society.

In these activities, you will critically evaluate how political films portray the roles of each branch of the government and then design a movie trailer for your own political film.

Activity 1: Analyze Political Films About the Branches of the Government

- View a political film from Hollywood about each branch of the government.
  - Examples:
    - Congress: Mr. Smith Goes to Washington (1939) celebrates the ideal of a single man of principle making a difference in politics.
    - President: Lincoln (2012) shows presidential leadership in getting Congress to enact the 13th Amendment to permanently abolish slavery.

- Courts: 12 Angry Men (1957) shows a jury struggling with a life and death decision to convict a defendant.
- Use the Teacher and Student Guide to Analyzing Movies to explore and ask critical questions about the content and the power behind the construction of the content of each film.
- Then, consider:
  - How do the films portray the roles of each branch of the government?
  - What is ‘accurate,’ and what is altered?
  - Why might certain historical elements be altered?
  - Whose perspective is dominant? Whose perspective is missing?
  - What message does the film convey to viewers about how government works?
- Based on your analysis, re-design a movie poster for one of the films to showcase your findings.

Activity 2: Design a Movie Trailer for Your own Political Film

- Watch one or more films from the following resources for inspiration:
  - The 34 best political movies ever made, The Washington Post

- The 22 Best Political Movies Ever, Ranked, Insider (November 3, 2020)
- A Guide to Some of the Best Political Movies, The Colorado Sun (February 14, 2020)
- Review this article: How to Make a Movie Trailer that Grabs Attention.
- Then, design a movie trailer for a new film that explores the separation of powers between the three branches of the government.
- Consider:
  - What issues would your film address?
  - What role will each branch of the government play in the film?
  - What perspectives would you explore in the film?
  - Why would people want to come to watch your film?
  - Who would be the actors in your film?
